To Mrs. Kahn, Mr. Ferry, and Mr. Kineen, who have guided us wisely through our high school days, and who have thus gained our respect as teachers, counselors, and friends, we, the class of nineteen hundred and sixty, dedicate this volume.

DEDICATION . . .

JOHN GLENN
— SUPERINTENDENT —

*Bedford Public Schools
Bedford, Massachusetts*

Superintendent 's Office

November 3, 1959

My best wishes are extended to the members of the Class of 1960.

I ask each of you to place a high premium on the attainment of the quality of excellence in whatever you do.

Outstanding accomplishment is exhilarating and leads to achievements far greater than you might ever expect.

Sincerely yours,

John Glenn

Principal

To the Class of 1960

Success in life does not depend upon genius. The average man who is successful is not a genius. He is a man who has merely the ordinary qualities that he shares with his fellows, but who has developed those ordinary qualities to a more than ordinary degree. Any young man of average intelligence, who is morally sound, above-board in his dealings, and not afraid of work should succeed in spite of obstacles and handicaps, if he plays the game fairly and squarely and keeps everlastingly at it. The possibilities before one are largely measured by the determinations within one.

Each of you is equipped and ready to make a success of his life, and we at Bedford have every confidence in the belief that you will do so. In attaining your goals we trust that you will live by the ideals we have tried to hold before you.

Very truly yours,

Edward H. Gillespie

GUIDANCE

MRS. IRENE PREVOST

FOR THE 1960 YEARBOOK

I feel that my message to the graduating class of 1960 can best be expressed by quoting a passage from "THE PROPHET" on the topic of self-knowledge. It gives us in very expressive terms a message that may well be pondered by every boy and girl entering the adult world and accepting adult responsibilities.

Speak to us of self-knowledge—

Your hearts know in silence the secrets of days and nights
But your ears thirst for the sound of your heart's knowledge
You would know in words that which you have always known in thought

You would touch with your fingers the naked body of your dreams

And it is well that you should

The hidden well-spring of your soul must needs rise and run murmuring to the sea

And the treasure of your infinite depths would be revealed to your eyes

But let there be no scales to weigh your unknown treasures
And seek not the depths of your knowledge with staff or sounding line

For self is a sea, boundless and measureless

Say not I have the truth, but rather I have found a truth.

Kahlil Gibran

My personal wish for your future growth and happiness.

BOB MORGAN

That that is is that that is not is not is not that it it is—Punctuate that sentence, kiddies.

"A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little mnds." OR—Any resemblance between this class and a democracy is purely coincidental—this is a benevolent dictatorship.

Your insignificant piece of psychological ingenuity, how dare you insinuate that I should tolerate your diabolical insults!!

They're really reading copies of MAD.

I tried to get here early but they beat me to the door.

Aha!

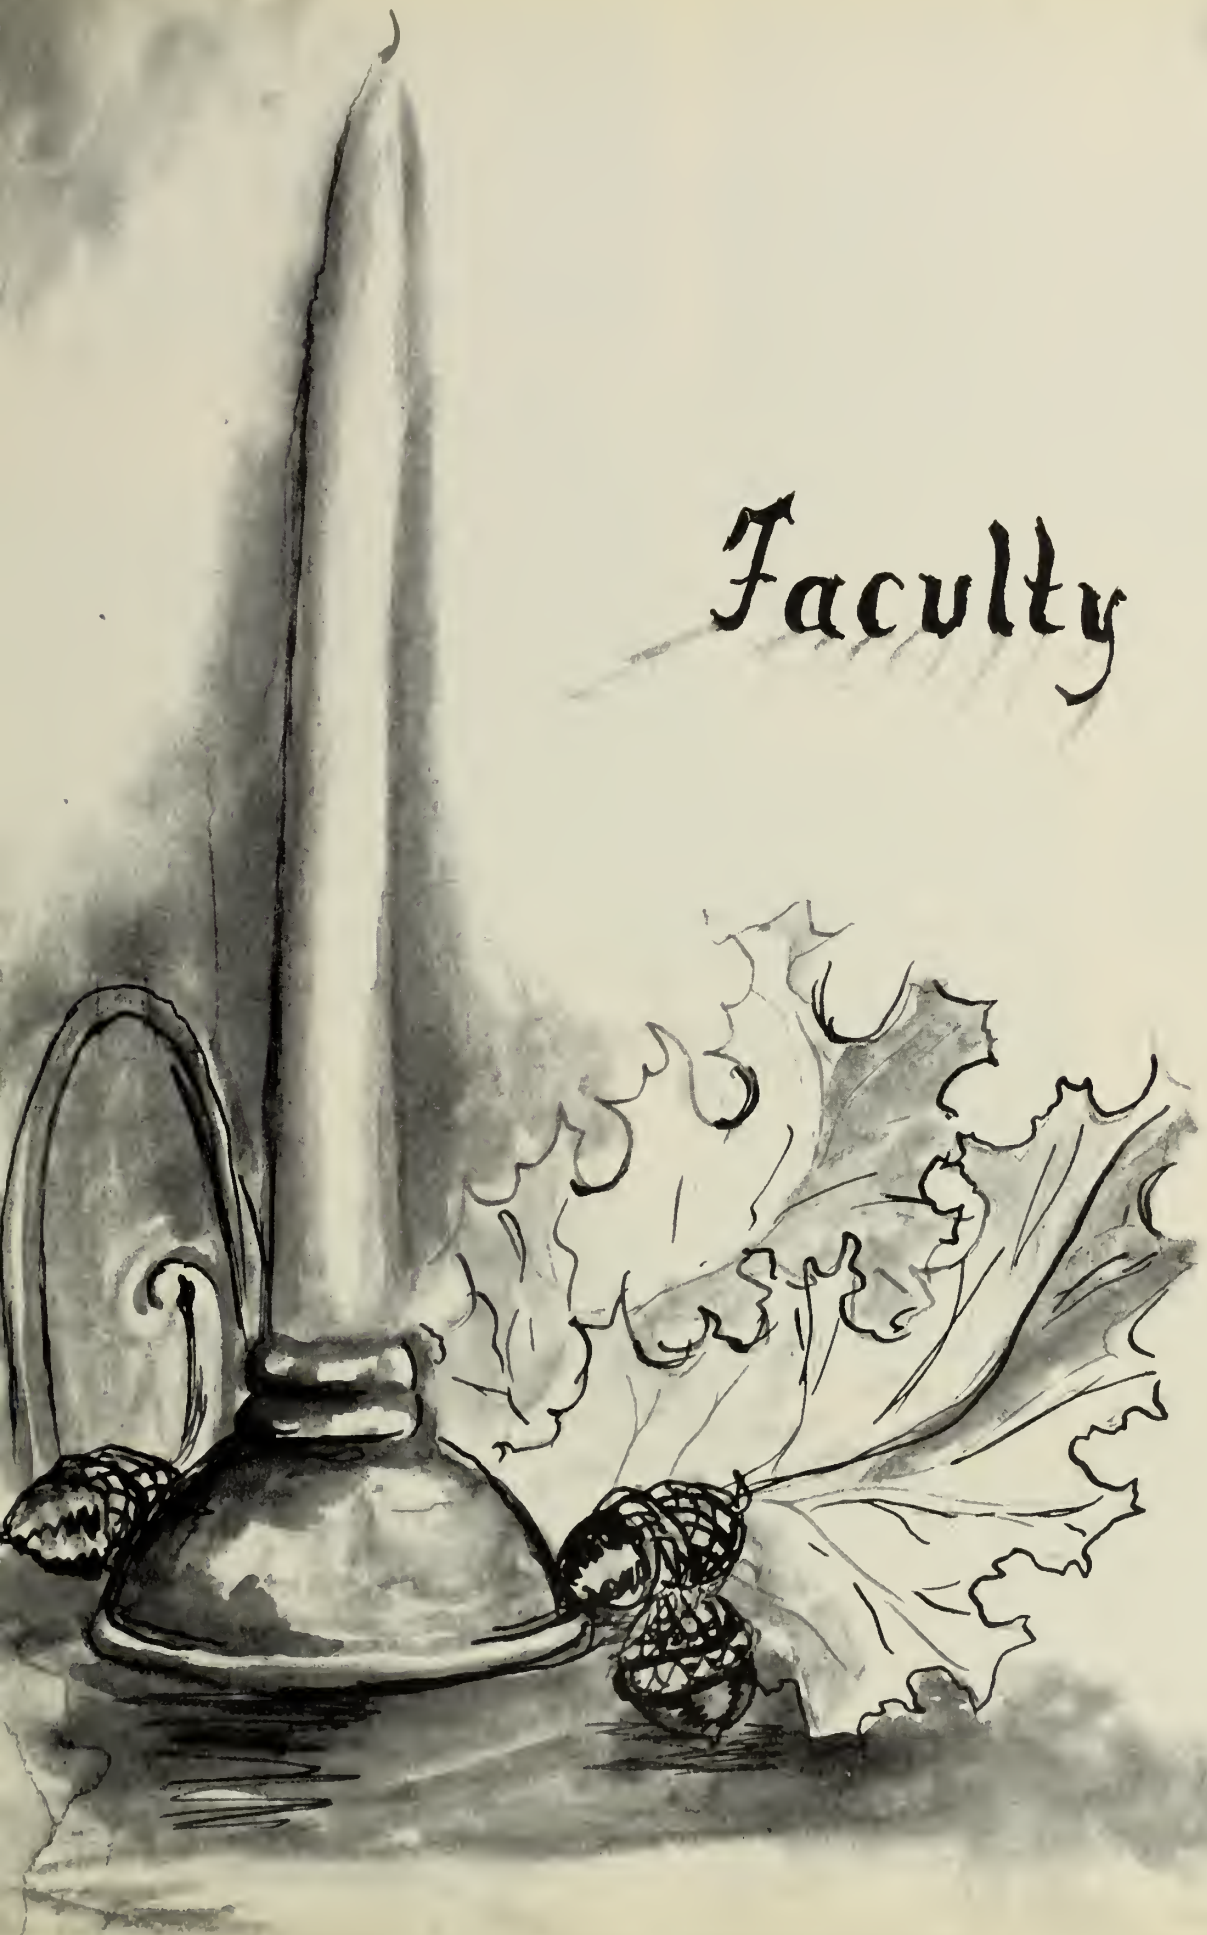

And if you signal left and turn right—

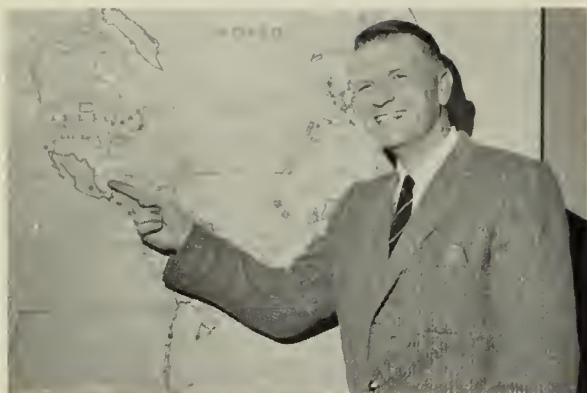

But, of course I use Pepsodent!

Faculty

Ever hear of the "Titanic?"

We waste more staples this way . . .

What do you mean, I'm wrong—I'm never wrong.

And when we finish dissecting—we'll have it for lunch.

O.K. girls—where's the bomb?

These students know I'm camera shy—

Don't directions come with these contraptions?

Underclassmen

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1960, being of questionably sound minds and broken bodies, do hereby bequeath to the underclassmen, this, our last will and testament.

CAROL ANKER and MARTIN BERWICK leave their intellectual curiosity and good marks to Nancy Livermore and Tommy McNeany.

RICHARD BAIRD leaves his prowess and love for sports to Jim McGovern.

CHESTER BAXTER leaves his inherited track shoes to Larry Gardini.

RALPH BEDFORD leaves his ability for scientific inventions to James Finley.

PATRICIA BERGER leaves her book, The Little Red Shoes to Liz Shea.

BRUCE BLAKE leaves his job as town paper boy to Richie Webber.

BARRY BRELAND leaves his curly hair to Mr. Morgan.

JIM BRESETT leaves his job in the supply closet to anyone who needs a stack of white lined paper.

JOHN CURTIS leaves his inherited exclusive use of the cellars of old Bedford High to Kenny Cassidy.

PATTY CUTTER leaves her brother to the teachers, with best wishes.

TOMMY DAVIN leaves a package of cigarettes to Mr. Melanson.

JOE DENARO leaves his shot gun and hunting ability to Mr. Healey and Mr. Melanson.

PAULA DESPATHY leaves to her sister, Cynthia, a book entitled "How to Avoid Generalities" for use in Mr. McCauley's English class.

NANCY DICK leaves her petiteness to Sandy Tumblin.

JIM DINITTO leaves his ability to tongue-lash people to the next editor of the Powder Horn, who will need it.

BRUCE DOLIMOUNT leaves his chino bermudas and argyle knee socks to Mr. Gillespie so he can have some tights and long pants.

JIMMY DOUGLAS leaves his healthful morning walks to Dickie Albani.

TOMMY DUNHAM leaves his love for English to Don Boehacker.

JACKIE DWYER leaves her good times in gym class to Cookie Vietas.

ELAINE EDWARDS leaves her green hair dye to anyone who will accept a St. Patrick's Day dare from Mr. Kinneen.

LYNN EMMONS leaves her goalie pads to Gail West.

BOB EUBANKS leaves, at last, some peace and quiet to Mr. Gollis.

BOB FIJAL leaves his bewitching blue eyes to Mr. Conley, in case he loses his.

CAROL FONE leaves her "devil-may-care" attitude to Marcia Melucas.

BARBARA GENETTI leaves her monitor's job to Gloria and Joanne Olivera.

PATTY GENETTI and LEE GIUDICI leave nothing because they are graduating together.

CHARLIE GITTINS leaves 125 pounds of undeveloped muscle to Ed Neville.

BOB GODDU leaves his last year's free pass to the Newport Jazz Festival to anyone who loves jazz as much as he does.

KENNY GRAVES leaves his little green bug to Mr. Healey to cart around in his big red truck.

BILLY GREER leaves his derby and red vest to Chuck Scrymgeour.

ED HANSON leaves his love for model airplanes to the next shoplifter at Bowen's.

SALLY HORTON leaves her trips to New York to Sheryl Landfear who can use them when she has a Girl Scout overnight.

PATTY HOWE leaves her spare time to Sara Smith.

CAROL HOYT leaves her pepsodent smile to Donna Harney.

NADINE IOVINO leaves her washing to the famous Italian, Mr. Kinneen.

BEVERLY KIRKLAND leaves her job at Woolworth's to Wilma Flewelling.

PAT KNAPTON leaves her taste in clothes to Gail Labo, so she can continue to look like a Vogue Cover Girl.

JOAN LAVERY leaves her cat naps in French to Craig Keith.

KAREN LEE leaves her lunch to the next pack of ravenously hungry Seniors who eat third lunch.

MARGARET LEHMAN leaves her stature to Danny Schwartz so that he can get in and out of the Driver Ed Car.

CAY LINEHAN leaves her ever-lovin' good times at BHS to Susie Cavanaugh.

DAVE MACINTOSH leaves his All-State bass voice to Joe Ross.

MARY MACLAREN leaves her dirty paint brushes to Sandy Wulfsburg.

BOB MACLAREN leaves his Irish temper to Mr. Kinneen.

KATHY MANGION leaves her telephone bill to any rich person who wants to pay it.

ELAINE MARABELLA leaves to Mr. Ferry, her memory of the seven trees.

NEIL MARIANI leaves his gym suit to Gerry Higson, in case he ever loses 100 pounds.

JOHN MCQUAID leaves his 1st place in the 440 to Bill Bowen.

STEPHEN MORRIS leaves his quietness to George Kozloski.

WARREN MORRIS leaves lots of luck to his brother Brian with Mr. McCauley.

TIMMY MURRAY leaves his unquenchable thirst for knowledge as an inspiration to all Bedford students.

LES NAGY leaves his two international date books with the instructions that the red one go to John Yauchoes and the black one go to Jay Ebacher, who really doesn't need it, but might.

TERRY NEFF leaves by the back door.

KATHY NEVILLE leaves her abundant love for Math, Science, and Mr. Gollis' tests to all the people in this scientific age who like English and History.

BILL NOSTRUM leaves his love for Trig to Earl Sparks.

BILL OLSEN leaves his love for music to Polly Groves.

ARLENE ORPIN leaves her giggle to Katey Dupont.

DAVID OSBORN and JANICE SAPIENZA leave their red hair to Cynthia Eikelboom and Tom Mix in case they lose theirs.

CONNIE OWN leaves her cast to Miss Gfroerer for next year.

DIANE PHILLIPS leaves her permanent wave kit to Mr. Robertson.

PAT PYNN leaves her good humor and high spirits to anyone who can stand it.

BILL RICKER leaves his ability to win cross country meets to Rick Drew.

CAROL SCHEUBLIN leaves her ability to do a cartwheel to anyone who wants to improve on it.

POLLY SCRYMGEOUR leaves her asthma atomizer to Paula Jolin.

BARBARA SEIKMAN leaves her cooking ability to Sandy Winston.

DONALD SELFRIDGE leaves his 51 Ford whistles to Mr. Ferry for use on his 1950 "blue Sherman tank."

GEORGE SHEA leaves his hidden joviality to John Garibotto.

STEVE SHEA leaves his height and basketball ability to Henry Gardini.

BARRY SMITH leaves his way with the teachers to the next poor Senior who has a hard time.

JUDY STEPHENS leaves her calm, unruffled appearance to Carol Lynch, in case she ever gets excited.

BOB SWEENEY leaves his car to Roy Johnston, in case his ever breaks down.

BRENDA THIVIERGE leaves her ability to hit high "C" to Karen Nordburg.

JOE VALATKA leaves his reserve to his sister Nancy.

EARL VANVALKENBURG leaves his ability to drop transmissions to Mr. Ferry.

MAGGIE WENZEL leaves to Jimmy Smith, her old skis, a half used book of ski tickets, and a splint and bandage, just in case.

BILL WHITE leaves his built in shoulder pads to Jackie Sullivan.

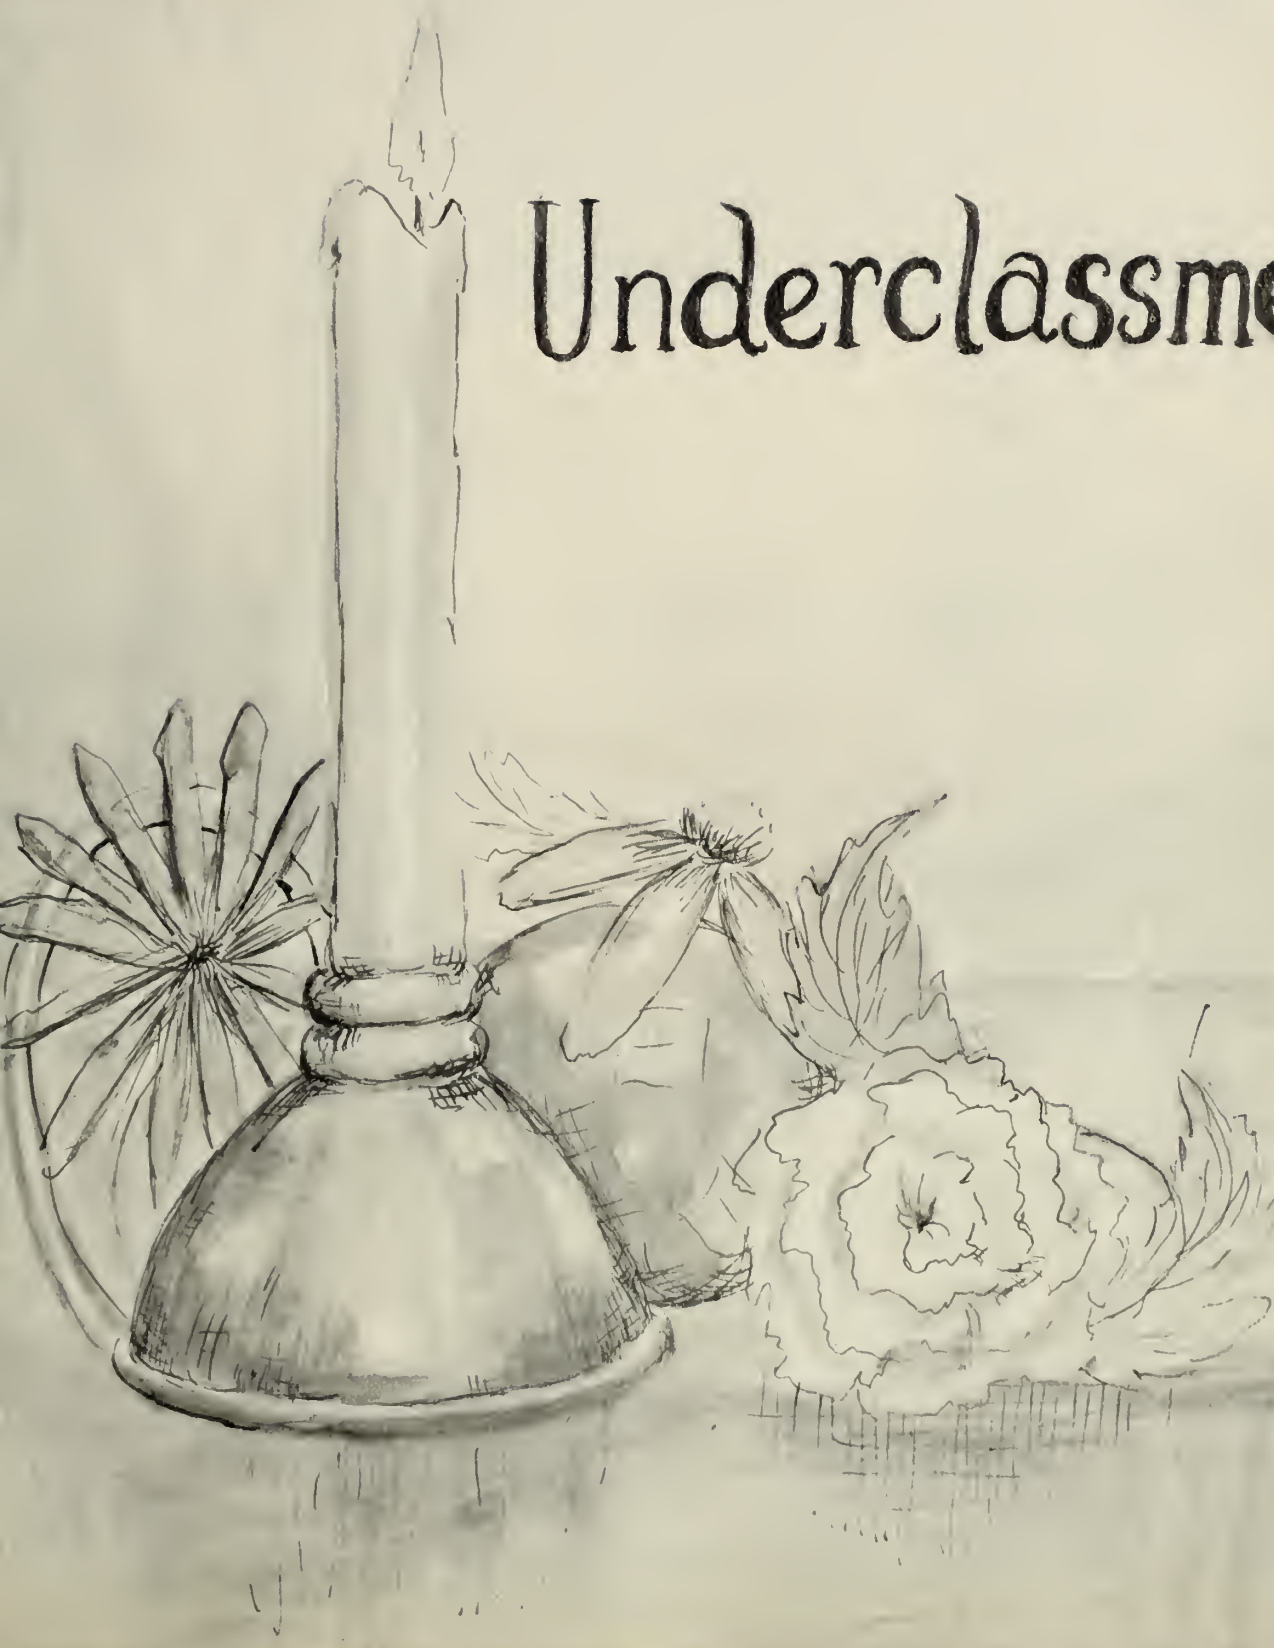

TED WURZBACHER leaves his little black book to any Junior boy who needs a quick date.

ARTIE ZWEIL leaves his love for French and Miss Blakeney to Cynthia Larson.

PETER BEAUPRE leaves his way with women to Roland Goodwin.

LEE GIUDICI leaves his crutches to Austin Goodwin.

CLASS HISTORY

7TH AND 8TH GRADES

When we, the class of 1960, entered the Center School on the morning of September 8, 1954, we had no idea of what was in store for us. This was the beginning. Grade Seven brought such illustrious figures as "Mr. Peepers," "k-9," and "Good ol' Crome-dome." We shall never forget Mr. Solomon — his goldfish, cucumber seeds, dead rabbit heads, target practice with cherries, compositions, and aeronautical engineering course, better known as a course in building paper airplanes; Mr. Kinneen with his "per cent means hundredth of," long, long, long division, and his introducing us to homework assignments; Mr. Stevens and his "romance" with Miss Galley; Miss Pratt home-ec classes, and our introduction to Mr. Healey, our world traveler, and his horse stalls. Unfortunately, one of these illustrious teachers didn't return with us. Mr. Solomon didn't come back. We are still wondering, why?

In the eighth grade, we took over a new building, where many new teachers were subjected to us. Miss Blakeney, Miss Gfroerer, Mr. McManus, Mr. Ferry, and Mr. "Robert" Aubut, who taught us how to play the autoharp and to dance. We shall always remember our long walks to the Center School for Shop classes and Home Economic classes. The girls will remember cooking dinner for faculty members, and making Miss Pratt wash the dishes. Warren and Billy, will probably remember their fights for the lowest marks. The class now turned their "match-making" talents to Mr. Healey and Miss Blakeney. Up to the present our efforts have been fruitless, but we go on hoping and trying. One of our most unforgettable experiences was the girls "bum day," when we wore the weirdest combinations possible. Some of the kids compensated for this outrage by really dressing up on the next day and only that day.

FRESHMAN YEAR

September, 1956, rolled around and with it we, the lowly freshmen, came to Bedford High School led by our President Bob Goddu, Vice-President Barry Breland, Secretary Kathy Neville, Treasurer Ken Graves, and our class advisor, Mrs. Kahn, we began our high school careers.

New arrivals, "Machine Gun Annie" Diane Phillips, Lemmons-Lynn Emmons, Patricia Pynn, and Beverly Kirkland added more jollity to our already jolly group.

In the mornings before 8:00 o'clock, watchdog Mr. Ferry, Mrs. Kahn, and Mr. Healey had all they could do to find their wandering minstrels, let alone keep them quiet.

Poor Mr. Healey, he tried so hard to make genuine historians out of us, he even made us rewrite the complete history of the town of Bedford. He didn't even invite us to his housewarming! But we biked up during April vacation and had a party anyway.

From Mr. Melanson we learned more about Mr. Healey's complete life history and baseball, than we did about algebra. He even practiced pitching with chalk and erasers!

"Euclid" of Bedford Junior High School was back again, but this time as "Julius, conjugate that verb, Caesar," From Jumping Julius we learned some Latin, but more about Mr. Healey and Ireland than anything else.

Mrs. McAleer also taught us to type this year; we still can't do the home-row drill!

Science classes were a blast, the only girls were Pat Pynn and Ginny Maloney.

English grammar in all its horrid forms dominated all our dreams this year, plus the memory of the blinking light as we gave our book reports to a tape recorder.

We were a very artistically inclined class, even then. Why, with a bit of mushy clay, poster paints, and sponges we could redecorate the art room in jig-time. Mrs. Broughall and Mr. Gillispie thought it was beautiful! They called it creative art.

Our first big dance, "The Fall Frolic," with the one and only Norton's Orchestra came and went with few casualties, leaving us with a bulging treasury.

We had our first experience with student teachers that year, having Miss Watson for civilization. We didn't like the way in which she tried to "brain wash" OUR Mr. Healey. During April vacation she redeemed herself, though, by taking us to see Tufts in her green convertible.

On the sports side of the picture, both the girls and boys entered their first year of competition on a varsity level. Always cheering the teams on was the back row bleacher, hand-holding society.

Student Council Week came, with two tag days, the kick off supper, and the boys' Varsity defeating the girls' Varsity.

In March of 1957, we presented our second big dance, "The Hi Fi Hop," with Dave Maynard. For this gala affair we had professional posters, and real live printed tickets. Our class policy "You have to spend money to make money," proved to be an apt motto, for again our treasury bulged.

Curtain Going Up, under the direction of Mrs. John Guidici, luckily included several members of our class. We say luckily they didn't fall off the back stage scaffolding before performance night.

Soon the time for the first Prom of Bedford came. Many of afternoons were spent with the "precious" freshmen madly making Kleenex Carnations for the juniors. The big night finally arrived, and with it the fun of wearing that first formal or tux.

However, our lowly freshman joys were short-lived, for descending upon all of us was a monstrous panic, the positive end, final exams!

Somehow we all came through it, and now that we are at last here, we look back to this our freshman year to pleasant memories, and wonderful times, for we know it will be a memorable year of our lives.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

President — Barry Smith

Vice-President — Kathy Neville

Treasurer — Ginny Maloney

Secretary — Joan Elwood

We'll never forget those first few days of our sophomore year. Remember those first few days of French class with Miss Blakeney saying, "Lisez, lisez, mademoiselle," and "J'entre dans la salle de classe?" And those biology classes, remember, kids? Third, Fourth, and Fifth periods — right before and after lunch? Those dissectings of the frog (Dumneraux the Aduin), the starfish (Hoadley), and the crayfish seemed to have been too much for some of us. Is that why you fainted, Elaine, or was it the formaldehyde? Richard, why didn't you come to the aid of Elaine when she fainted — TWICE? Were you still rather inexperienced in such matters?

Some of us shall never forget those second year Latin assignments, shall we, Marty? You literally did enough work for two — you and Carol. By the way, Carol, how many times did you do homework that year, once, twice, maybe three times? And that long, long, long term paper that was copied word for word from the Lincoln Library?

Mrs. Griffin, will you ever forget those fifth-period English classes? We never shall; especially, "The verb to be can not take an object," and those "horrid" term papers. Patty Howe never did read Vanity Fair, until after she had passed in her term paper. Those were the first trips that we had ever taken to the Boston Public Library, and Patty, do you remember standing in front of it and asking the man where it was? The final was "a really big show" — forty pages!

Remember those typing classes, girls? Learning to type, and learning to drive are exactly the same. Every once in a while we sorta wondered whether we were taking typing, driver education, or spelling. We'll never forget those spelling tests we had to take when Mr. Ferry decided we needed some "larnin."

This year we came in contact with Mr. Sullivan for the first time — Diane, too, with a math book.

We called him "Smiley" because he always had an ear-to-ear grin on his face — like the one we gave him for Christmas. A smile wasn't the only thing we gave him. We thought he looked like Clark Kent, so naturally we gave him a superman ring. Girls, remember how we used to swoon when he called us by our first names. Of course, he did have a few nicknames, remember Pork Chops, and Samantha?

The science fair was the next challenge to our ingenuity, and the bane of our existence. The projects ranged from growing plants, to pricking people for blood tests, to growing fruit flies, to operating on white mice. Marty Berwick, Kathie Mangion, and Patty Howe walked off with top honors. Kathy Neville never did make it to the fair, Connie had to take her place before the judges.

We lived through the science fair, but our lives were still in danger because Warren, Marty, Richie, and Bob Goddu got their licenses. In spite of these "would be drivers," the end of the school year found us all still living, looking forward to next year when we would be juniors.

JUNIOR YEAR

During the tumultuous year of 1958-1959 we were led by President — James Bresett, Vice-President — Barry Smith, Secretary — Elaine Edwards, and Treasurer — Artie Zweil.

We were introduced to Mrs. Kahn's English and history classes, but we had trouble deciding whether we were getting a course in English and history or the facts of life. I'll bet the familiar ring of Mrs. Kahn's "Out!!" still echoes in Bob Eubank's ears. Timmy, do you remember "Timothy, get your head off that wall!!"? This year for the first time a course in the humanities was presented to the Junior English classes, and for three weeks we enjoyed being taught by TV. However, in history we poor Juniors thought we remembered enough history from the eighth grade to get us by, but we were wrong!

Mr. Gollis was the unfortunate teacher who attempted to instruct us in the wonders of science this year. We still wonder what Mr. Gollis thinks when his experiments go wrong, or if they don't work at all. Bob Eubanks and his wise-cracks had a field day in chemistry, but other students and Mr. Gollis could be heard during any lab period muttering or shouting, "Don't drop that graduated cylinder!", "Don't force the glass tubing through the rubber stopper if it doesn't want to go!", "Oops, I guess I owe Mr. Gollis some money . . .". Then came the Science Fair. We'll never forget Ralph Bedford's ingenious invention; however, congratulations were in order, for he won first prize.

Et les pauvres enfants de français! This was the year of irregular verbs and exceptions to the exceptions. The French II students revolted with "mercy," "trez beans," "mudemoiselle," and "au reservoir." Mademoiselle Blakeney — pardons-nous, s'il vous plait et s'il vous pouvez.

An introduction to shorthand and Mrs. McAleer were in order for some of the Junior girls. Poor Pat Pynn — Mrs. McAleer's wrath descended on her after the departure of Diane Flewelling. A S D F J K L. We still say it in our sleep.

Mr. Melanson had his hands full with his algebra classes. His birthday was celebrated at least twenty times; on April 1st he lost his class; the one o'clock bell always rang on time for us on Thursdays, but Mr. Melanson never knew we weren't supposed to leave until it was too late. Too bad you missed Lee with the T-square, Mr. Melanson, it would have saved the window. However, no one ever found out how the window did get broken, did they?

Under the capable direction of Mr. Ferry, the Juniors were instructed in the difficult art of driving. "The clutch, the clutch! the BRAKE! the BRAKE!" Sound familiar, anyone? In spite of everything, Bedford was invaded a second time with the pink-slipped drivers, when the Juniors received their licenses.

In the middle of the year Mr. Schwab arrived. Classes on Saturday were just too much for our already busy Juniors, but they took it like men. We shall always remember Mr. Schwab and his lollipop bets, his sand box league, and the expression, "I reiterate, restate, repeat, and resay."

Our first social event was the Autumn Leaves dance. We had plenty of leaves, plenty of people, and, for a happy class of Juniors, a successful dance. Our biggest social event that year was the Junior Prom which, after weeks of indecision, we finally titled "Moonlight Sonata." Transforming the gym into a garden was a major operation, and it seemed as though Brown's nursery was transplanted to B.H.S. At one A.M. Friday morning we were still in the gym adding the final touches to the decorations. Mr. Gollis, we're sorry no one passed the chemistry test on Friday, but what did you expect on the night before a gala affair such as "Moonlight Sonata"?

With class day the end of the year came unofficially. After the Seniors graduated, B.H.S. seemed rather lonely and empty, but the Juniors could hardly wait until they themselves could say with pride, "We're Seniors, at last!" In June they departed for their well-earned vacation until September when they would return to school as Seniors — in their final year at Bedford High School.

CLASS PROPHECY

The year is 1985, the occasion, the 25th reunion of the class of 1960. The setting is the Terrace Room of the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston. Connie Owen, Pat Pynn, Diane Phillips, and Carol Fone, new owners of the hotel chain, have extended the exclusive use of their Boston hotel to the class of 1960.

Barry Smith, the well-known historian, whose hobby is freeloading, will deliver a series of lectures to the class in return for his hotel accommodations.

In honor of the occasion, our class clowns, Lynn Emmons and Bill Greer, have sent a petition to the President of the United States, Ken Graves, for a day's release from "the Rock" for Kathy Neville and Marty Berwick, the most successful members of the Senior Class.

Meanwhile, other guests are arriving. Maggie Wenzel and Richie Baird water skied up from Bermuda to attend this gala affair. Jackie Dwyer has returned from Reno for the fifth time with her latest flame, Peter "Manville" Beaupre. Kathie Mangion, who has kindly offered to operate our switchboard, is all tied up in the wires. She has just received a telephone call from Les Nagy, a noted diplomat, saying that he will arrive presently in his jet plane chauffeured by ace pilot, Ed Hanson. Carol Ankers reports that she has been taking a refresher course in calculus so that she can help her fourth-grade grandson, Richard III, with his homework. Ralph Bedford, who has patented his famous science fair object and is considered America's top chemist, will also be present. Robert Eubanks, the eminent physicist, has been recuperating from a nervous breakdown brought on by the failure of his latest experiment, and will be released from the Alabama State Rest Home in time for the reunion. He will make the trip under the care of the eminent brain surgeon, Charles Gittins. Mrs. James Anderson, the former Polly Scrymgeour of Springs Road, Bedford, has just finished shining her 260 pots and pans and will be with us later today. Bill White, Joe Denaro, Chet Baxter, and Jim Bresett have just returned from a hunting expedition in Alaska and are supplying the main course, polar bear steaks, for our banquet tonight. Barbara Siekman and Neil Mariani, who are supervising the culinary preparations, have ordered a supply of potatoes from the prosperous farmer Jim Douglas. The lovely decorations, including the centerpieces and the napkins, were originated by Karen Lee. Bob and Mary MacLaren served as consultants to the hotel owners for the redecoration of the terrace room. Lee Giudici, the famous railroad tycoon of the 70's, better known as L.S.P.G., has issued passes to all members of the class who choose to travel by train. The music will be provided by Wurzbacher, Howe, Breland, and Despathy under the direction of David MacIntosh. Patty Genetti will be delayed because of an important press conference marking the opening of her new play, written by the eminent author, Elaine Edwards. Her press notices and heavy correspondence are being efficiently handled by her secretaries, Judy Stephens and Arlene Orpin.

Song writer Bill Olsen is talking to our musicians. Perhaps they are discussing a new arrangement. Our vocalist, Brenda Thivierge, has just joined them. Miss Thivierge is about to complete a widely acclaimed world tour, but she arranged to be with us today.

This week Nadine Iovino and Elaine Marobella are celebrating the 20th anniversary of their successful laundermat. Their first experimental laundermat has developed into a growing business.

Jim DiNitto, famous newspaper editor and publisher, has printed a special extra in honor of our reunion. The news of this issue is mainly concerned with the members of the class of 1960. Bruce Blake has offered to distribute the publication in memory of his delivery days at B.H.S.

Representing the National Beatnik Union, "We dared to be different," are Kay Linehan, Sally Horton, and Bob Goddu. This group is also unofficially representing the Society for the Advancement of Jazz Appreciation.

Earl Van Valkenburg, who now controls the Texaco Gas Company, is sponsoring an entry in the Indianapolis "500." His former classmate, Stephen Morris, has designed the car which Tim Murray and John Curtis will drive to first place. The pit crew assisting them includes Tom Davin, Terry Neff, and Dave Osborn.

Hollywood's darling, Carol Scheublin, is just arriving, accompanied by Warren Morris. Warren has danced his way to a reputation outshining Arthur Murray, a fairly well-known dancer.

Arthur Zweil, the world renowned admiral, has just completed a world tour in his atomic submarine, "La Parisienne."

Barbara Genetti and Pat Berger are representing the American Medical Association and have made themselves known to Doctor Gittens in case of emergency.

John McQuaid and Bill Ricker, United States entries in the Olympics, have just arrived from California. They traveled lightly, walking the distance from coast to coast.

The former Pat Cutter is flying down from Canada with her tribe of weight-lifting sons.

Draftsman George Shea is talking with Bruce Dolimount and Joe Valatka, prominent business men, who may be interested in his new ideas.

The entrance of Jan Sapienza, America's Best Dressed Woman, has caused quite a sensation. Jan has been awarded this title several times and is always among the top ten best-dressed women in the nation.

Bob Fijal, famous outfielder of the Washington Senators, the perennial pennant winners, will be unable to attend because of the team's game schedule. Speaking of sports, Steve Shea, completing his twentieth year with the Boston Celtics, has just dropped his basketball into the punchbowl.

Nancy Dick is driving from Detroit to Boston in a new car which her husband designed for the Chrysler Corporation.

The internationally acclaimed United Nations linguist, Joan Lavery, has cabled that she will be slightly delayed. A meeting of the General Assembly has unexpectedly been scheduled.

Pat Knapton has flown in from Paris the showing of her latest designs, accompanied by Carol Hoyt, the model who is featured in Miss Knapton's show.

Don Selfridge, the eminent contractor whose latest project was another building for the Bedford School System, is arriving later today with his secretary, Judy Stephens.

Beverly Kirkland, owner of the Woolworth Five and Dime Store chain, donated party favors for the guests.

Tom Dunham has announced the publication of his autobiography, recounting his experiences as an explorer and adventurer.

Midge Lehman, Vice-President of 1-Stop Cleaners, Inc., has offered to clean, at no charge, anything soiled during the reunion festivities.

Bob Sweeney, whose success story in the Purity Food chain is an inspiration to ambitious youth, is taking his first day off in twenty years in order to attend the reunion.

Dotti Scully, Joan Elwood, and Victor Minich, our classmates who left B.H.S. before graduation, have been sent special invitations and will be here soon.

This gala affair, just twenty-five years after our high school graduation, is, in many ways, surprising. How far away this reunion seemed as we stood on graduation night ready to begin living life as adults. Our memories of high school are jumbled, we have forgotten names and events, but the fun and laughter, and even a few memories of the problems we shared, are still with us. As we go on into the future, Bedford High itself will remain a cherished memory of our past.

Watch your language, Patty Howe!
